

"We're excited to partner with FOX Sports to highlight great Thoroughbred racing from across the country," said Tim Ritvo of The Stronach Group. "FOX Sports Saturday At The Races will showcase many of the top 3-year-olds leading up to the Triple Crown."

Tony Allevato, President of NYRA Bets and Executive Producer of NYRA TV, added, "FOX Sports Saturday At The Races will provide fans across the country with an unprecedented level of national coverage of the best racing on the road to the Triple Crown. Thanks to FOX Sports and our partners at The Stronach Group, FS2 will shine a light on the best racing from Aqueduct, Gulfstream, and Santa Anita throughout the next two months."

Hosted by Greg Wolf, FOX Sports Saturday At The Races will include commentary and analysis from a combination of FOX Sports, NYRA and XBTv personalities including Paul LoDuca, Andy Serling, Maggie Wolfendale, Gabby Gaudet, Acacia Courtney, Richard Migliore and Michelle Yu.

In conjunction with the telecasts of FOX Sports Saturday At The Races, NYRA will host a Cross County Pick 4 featuring races at Aqueduct, Gulfstream and Santa Anita. The popular multi-track, multi-race wager will have a 50-cent minimum bet.

BELMONT PARK QUARANTINE LIFTED

A quarantine imposed on Barn 44 at Belmont Park due to a case of Equine Herpesvirus-1 has been lifted, the New York Racing Association announced Friday. The ban came about when an unraced 3-year-old male trained by Linda Rice tested positive for EHV-1 Jan. 9 after coming down with a fever and respiratory infection. A follow-up test on the horse last week was positive, but his most recent test Jan. 24 was negative, prompting the end of the quarantine. The horse has been kept in isolation since returning to Belmont from the nearby Ruffian Equine Hospital. He has remained afebrile and asymptomatic, but will remain in quarantine for several more days as an added precaution.
